The flip-up pieces of plastic that puts the keyboard on a slant are poorly designed. They slide up and down too easily, and have to be readjusted a lot.

The small right-side shift key is too small.

The touchpad is much too sensitive. It seems to always be doing things on its own, without my intent.