SJ: Meeting of the College, May 22, 1985

The second formal meeting of the American College of Medical Informatics was held May 22, 1985 at the University Club in San Francisco. Twenty-one Fellows were in attendance.

Reflected in the minutes and other attached documents are the rather notable achievements of the College in its brief six months of existence. Among the accomplishments:

- an invitation to Ted Shortliffe to testify on behalf of the College before the House Appropriations Subcommittee.
- the establishment of a working relationship with the Association of American Medical Colleges that led to a forum on computers in medical education at the AAMSI Congress.
- a request for proposal from the National Library of Medicine to define medical informatics and identify journals and proceedings that should be cataloged.
- a skeleton of a working relationship and endorsement of the journal, Computers in Biomedical Science.

Attached, as well, are forms for nomination of candidates for election to the College. The Membership Committee urges Fellows to nominate. This need not be complicated. Fill out what you can, and the Committee will do the rest. We are targeting the election of fifty new Fellows this year. The deadline is June 30. Please give this process your attention.
