Dear Professor Feigenbaum,

I understand from the Singapore Science Council that you are participating in the Conference on Artificial Intelligence in Singapore on 24-27 March 1986.

I wish to take the opportunity of extending to you an invitation from the National University of Singapore to accept an appointment as a Lee Kuan Yew Distinguished Visitor in conjunction with your participation at the Conference. Would you be able to consider being here two or three weeks before the Conference, say, beginning on March 2? If this suggestion is not suitable, I should be grateful if you would indicate what period would be suitable to you.

The Lee Kuan Yew Distinguished Visitor Programme is funded by an endowment fund established in 1983 in honour of the Prime Minister of Singapore, Mr Lee Kuan Yew. The purpose of the Programme is to invite distinguished and internationally eminent scholars to Singapore as Lee Kuan Yew Distinguished Visitors. The Visitors may come from any discipline relevant to the National University of Singapore, the Nanyang Technological Institute and to Singapore as a whole. The initial emphasis will be on high technology, biotechnology, science, economics, management, law, medicine, engineering and accountancy. The Visitors will give lectures and interviews, conduct seminars and interact with the academic community in the universities and the public.

The duration of this distinguished appointment may be three months or longer, but a shorter period would certainly be considered.
The Visitors will be provided first class return air passage and hotel suite (or luxury apartment for those on long term) for themselves and their spouse, achauffered car, secretarial assistance, if needed, and an honorarium of S$500 per day.

I do hope you will be able to accept this invitation.

With best wishes

Yours sincerely

Peter Lim
