Dear Ed:

I am putting together a second collection of about thirty of my essays on cognitive psychology, which the Yale University Press is going to publish, with the title of "Models of Thought, Volume II." I would like very much to include the paper(s) we did together, EPAM-like models of recognition and learning. Cognitive Science, Volume 8, pp. 305-336, 1984.

and would be grateful for your permission to do so. Full acknowledgement would be given, of course, of our co-authorship.

It is my intention to give the royalties (if any) from the volume, after out-of-pocket expenses, to Carnegie-Mellon University, since the papers are really the product of the department, not a single person. (There will be a total of about twenty co-authors.)

With best regards,

Cordially,

Herbert A. Simon

The above permission is granted.
